DANA RADER INDUCTED INTO THE LPGA'S T&CP HALL OF FAME

Charlotte, NC (August 28, 2017) – Dana Rader, founder and owner of Dana Rader Golf School, was inducted into the LPGA Teaching and Club Professional (T&CP) Hall of Fame at LPGA's National Summit in West Des Moines, IA on August 21. With a career spanning nearly 40 years, Dana Rader was honored for her involvement in the LPGA and the golf industry overall, efforts toward growing the game of golf, teaching prowess and business achievements. The T&CP Hall of Fame is the highest honor given to teaching and club professional members for extraordinary membership service and leadership while contributing to the game of golf and the golf industry.

After gaining her Golf Professional status in 1980, Rader started as an assistant professional at Myers Park Country Club and worked her way up in the industry until 1987 when she first opened Dana Rader Golf School, which today is one of the most renowned in the golf world and instructs over 17,000 students of all ages and skill levels including over 500 juniors—a passion for Rader.

Julie Cole, fellow LPGA Member and manager partner at Dana Rader Golf School, said, “Dana recent induction into the LPGA T&CP Hall of Fame is well-deserved because of her extended influence in the golf industry and the lives she has touched because of her leadership, her experience in teaching and willingness to do what others will not.”

A testament to Cole's statement, Rader has been the recipient of many prestigious awards in the industry. Golf Magazine added Rader to its Top 100 Teachers in America list in 1996, a title she still holds today. She was also named number three in the country and number one in the state on Golf Digest's Top 50 Greatest Teachers in America list in 2003-2005 and 2008-Present. The Golf Channel Academy made her Lead Charter Coach. In the LPGA, Rader was named LPGA T&CP National Teacher of the Year in 1990 and won the Ellen Griffin Rolex Award in 2015.

Within the LPGA T&CP, Rader served in many positions, including Treasurer, Vice President and then President of her section before being elected into the position of National President of the LPGA T&CP in 2010, a position she held until 2015.

“Being inducted into the LPGA T&CP Hall of Fame is truly a dream come true. I am humbled that my life's work is worthy of such a great honor,” said Dana Rader, founder and owner of Dana Rader Golf School.

Her induction into the LPGA T&CP Hall of Fame is more than deserved. David DeNunzio, managing editor of instruction for Golf Magazine, said, “In my opinion, there are only a handful of current instructors who have had a much of an influence on nurturing and developing future generations of instructors as Dana.”
